die grosse um_ordnung

«die grosse um_ordnung» is a political art action opposing sexism, racism, discrimination of disabled people and many more, which newly construes the existing structures of power relations on a symbolic level. at helvetiaplatz, which is traditionally the starting point for demonstrations in the city of zurich, performances show how things could function in a different way: in the actions of the choreographer, artist, and activist niv acosta with black swiss and the collaboration of the performance artist simone aughterlony with young queer persons, the body becomes a political instrument that challenges existing structures of power.

Simply said

We do not find the order in the world right. Some people have a lot of power. Some people have no place in the world. There are people who harm other people, animals and also plants. We dont like that. We want to defend ourselves with this event. We demand a new and fair order for all people in the world. Our event is called «the big re_order». There will be a performance with the artists Simon Aughterlony and niv Acosta, along with other people. Join us too!
